Welcome to our services. March 5, 2017

Next Potluck: March 19th!

We'll do another visit/singing/puppet show at Drew's Place on March 25th at 10:00 a.m. Please plan on joining us. We will, once again, take the bus. The residents there really appreciate our visits.

Cathleen spent a couple of days in the hospital but was released yesterday evening. She had difficulty breathing and was given treatment. Please pray for her.

The Nortons are still traveling.

Many of you know Fawn Lockwood of the Hillsdale congregation. She has been diagnosed with terminal cancer. Please pray for her and her husband.

Judy Dennis, Jennifer's grandmother, has been diagnosed with breast cancer. Please pray for a suitable treatment and a quick recovery.

We are still in need of someone to change the fluorescent lights on the outside sign. Please see Dave if you can do this.

Due to space concerns the prayer list will continue to include our members every week as needed but family members and friends will stay in for one week.

If you'd like to be added to the Kid's Church rotation, please see Pete.

Broken Pottery

I've only interacted a few times with Ken Stegall, but I love him. Do you know why? He makes me think. Think with me as Ken writes about a recent experience:

I was watching a fascinating documentary recently which interviewed four Jewish men who had suffered and survived four years in a Nazi concentration camp.

A number of things struck me as I listened to all four of them tell about their experiences. One of them was a lack of bitterness. They had been given the opportunity to revisit the site of their horrific experience. This visit provided the bulk of footage for the documentary. They walked around the site and pointed out places where certain things had happened. You can imagine the emotion as one of them pointed to an exact spot where his mother and sister had stood waving — just before they were put on a train headed for the gas chambers.

But almost as fascinating were the comments from each man's wife and/or children. One of the wives' comments stuck with me. She said, "He is like a piece of pottery that was broken and glued back together."

That thought keeps returning to my mind. My first reaction was, maybe we're all like that to some degree. We try to mold our lives the way we want them, and life comes along and shatters us. We try to pick up the pieces and put our lives back together. Maybe we lost some pieces in the process and had to find something different to fill in the holes. Maybe we feel like we don't look as good as we did before.

Or maybe . . . we never did look as good as we thought we did and God needed us to know that so He could, not just glue the pieces back together, but remake us — into a vessel that He could use.

God sent Jeremiah to the potter's house where he watched the potter reshaping a marred pot: "... so the potter formed it into another pot, shaping it as it seemed best to him" (Jeremiah 18:4).

The truth is: all of our "pots" are broken because we all struggle with sin (Romans 3:23).

But God still loves us and wants to remake us into something beautiful: a recreation in the likeness of Jesus, His Son (Ephesians 2:8-10; Galatians 4:19).
